10:30 Thursday Bible Study

The Thursday morning Bible study meets for an hour in Room 202 at 10:30. The group usually works through about three chapters of the Bible every week, in a lively discussion with lots of questions—and sometimes even some answers! Right now we're in the story of king David, who rose to power as a heroic warlord, then brought it down in rebellion by betraying people who trusted him. Next comes Solomon, for whom the Bible gives evidence leading in at least two directions. Was he a wise and holy king, giving justice and building the Temple? Or was he also a crafty tyrant, raising Israel to the peak of its power and wealth at the cost of enslaving the people and bringing the nation to the brink of collapse?

The Bible does not hand us superficial answers to questions like this. It's a book about real people, complete with both heroism and deadly flaws. Would you like to join us on Thursday mornings?

Senior Men's Ministry

Centering Prayer - every Tuesday from 11:00 am - 12:00 pm

It's consenting to God's Presence & action within. In other words, becoming a mystic.

"The word mystic may mislead or intimidate some people—the prestige accorded to it has traditionally been so exalted that they feel such heightened perception and joy belong to and are attainable by only a few chosen human beings. This is far from the case. Mystical experience is always available—like the divine grace it is—to any who really wants it; all human beings are given in the course of their lives glimpses into the heart of the real which they are free to pursue or forget.

When we are touched by mystic grace and allow ourselves to enter its field without fear, we see that we are all parts of a whole, elements of an universal harmony, unique, essential and sacred notes in a divine music that everyone and everything is playing together with us in God and for God. And if we work patiently with what we come to know, through prayer and meditation and loving service to other beings, we will, all the traditions promise, come to understand what Christ meant when he said, 'The Kingdom of heaven is within you.'

"The Essential Mystics" by Andrew Harvey

What Does Your Soul Need in this Election Season? – October 23

Wednesday October 23rd, 6:30 pm in the Atrium

We will be offering a space to share the burdens and anxieties of the election season. Simply speaking these concerns aloud—and perhaps hearing others speak of similar concerns—reduces our isolation and helps us be community for one another.

This gathering will be a space that Pr. Andrew will moderate, and each person may speak about their own concerns, as they desire. There will be an expectation of “I” language, and no one is expected to speak if they don’t want to. Every person’s statement belongs to them and does not require a response from anyone else. People may say things that you disagree with, but the goal of this session is not to convince others of our ideas but instead to listen to what is happening in our souls and discern the movement of God among us. We will practice deep listening and being present to one another in this challenging season.

Presentation—The U.S. Indian Boarding School Era and the Role of the Christian Church – October 27

National Boarding School Remembrance Day is September 30, Indigenous People's Day is October 13, and Native American Awareness Month comes in November! Autumn is many things: among them, it extends an opportunity to learn more about the history and experience of our indigenous neighbors here in Upper Michigan and beyond.

One of the darkest chapters in that history involves Indian Boarding Schools, funded by the federal government, and often operated by Christian Churches. Between the early 1880's until about 1930 and in some cases, much longer than that, these schools operated on the premise that Native Americans should be assimilated into the dominant culture, as a kind of servant class. Children were removed from their homes and brought to these facilities, often far away from home. Their hair was cut, they were forbidden to use their language or follow the ceremonial and religious customs practiced by their families. They were force-fed Christianity, with the expectation that they convert to the faith practiced by white America. Instances of abuse were widespread. Many children died of tuberculosis and other diseases—and were buried in secret locations without their parents even being informed. Several of these boarding schools were located in Upper Michigan, northern Wisconsin, and northern lower Michigan. One of the predecessor churches of the ELCA operated the Bethany Indian Mission school near Wittenberg, Wisconsin.

The impact on the native community has been tragic and has persisted over several generations. Native people struggle to recover their identity and culture. Even though some Christian missionaries may have meant well, the good news of Jesus Christ was not experienced as such by the indigenous community. What responsibility for all this do we bear as non-native Lutherans living in the here and now? What can we do to support our indigenous neighbors in their quest for healing? What does it mean to be a witness to Jesus Christ in our relationships with Indian people?

On Sunday evening, October 27, there will be a special presentation at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Negaunee, beginning at 4 PM EDT. Pastor Dave Van Kley, Pastor Bucky Beach, and Rich Reitz, of the ELCA's Truth and Healing Initiative will be the presenters. Come to learn, discuss, and begin to chart a new path of relationship with our indigenous neighbors. The presentation will be followed by a potluck dinner at 5 PM, with worship at 6 PM, using the liturgy prepared for Native American Awareness during that worship service.
